

NOTES FROM A CITY EDITOR'S DAYBOOK—One of our reporters returned from a meeting of the new township planning commission, convinced of the fact that it "means business."

"We've come to trust opinions of experienced reporters, because in the course of city desk grilling they seldom fail to furnish the concrete background of a story which is absolutely necessary to editors chained to a desk."

Moreover, it is pleasing to note that Supervisor A. C. Higby has chosen some high calibre people to staff his planning commission. A good share of them have a history of community contribution.

THIS IS NOT a way of saying that the commission is headed for sure success. Community planning takes perseverance, considerable know-how, political and technical, and money. It also requires sympathetic municipal, township, and county government. In the final analysis it requires a community with foresight and a desire to be improved.

We'd just like to say at this point that we wish the planning commission well. It's been something that our people have asked for. It deserves the best wishes of everyone.

JIM HEY, of the Junior chamber of commerce, phoned this morning to tell us that "Miss Illinois" will be a guest at the Dixon "Injun Summer Days." She is Miss Glena Pohly, a Northwestern University co-ed, who was picked by the Jaycees at their contest in East St. Louis.

"Miss Illinois" will appear here on the afternoon and evening of Aug. 26, the second day of the festival, and will participate in the 4-H club parade, Jim says. Presently she's "Miss All-Star," representing the college all-stars for their game with the pros come Friday night. She'll also compete for Miss America.

WE SPOKE AT the Dixon Rotary club meeting yesterday and in the course of the after-lunch question and answer period some member suggested the institution of a "Town Meeting" program for Dixon this winter.

From our standpoint it is an excellent suggestion. It is our sincere belief that the American people today, more than ever in the country's history, have a desire to grapple with governmental problems first-hand. They want it from the horse's mouth, not in watered-down official statements carefully devised for proper mass effect.

A "Town Meeting" can be a stimulating thing if properly planned and directed. We'd like some comments on the suggestion by this Rotarian. Send them along.

GLEANE FROM THE CITY BEAT—The lady had fire in her eyes, a sword-like umbrella in her hand and nasty words on her tongue.

Her words, punctuated with umbrella parries and thrusts, went like this:

"When are they going to do something about those kids who ride their bicycles on the downtown sidewalks and almost knock a body down? One almost hit me a minute ago. I think it's just a crime!"

And guess what? It IS against the law, Mr. Policeman!

THOSE SONG-WRITING Dixonaires have a problem: To whom are they going to give the profits of their next show? In the past, profits went to the YMCA fund but that project seems to have lapsed.

According to Jerry Greasby, some of the troupe are talking about boosting the youth center fund—if they can find the civic organization which has such a thing.

Sees No Food Shortage Despite South's Drouth

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Plentiful supplies of food appear to be in store during the year ahead despite last month's crop damaging drought in the South and North-east.

In its latest measurement of production prospects, the Agriculture department predicted Monday that the combined volume of all crops this year will be larger than in any year except 1948 and 1949.

Output Uneven
Although the indicated output is larger than last year, it will be less evenly distributed because of heavy losses particularly in feed supplies for meat and dairy animals—in Southern states.

The latter area will need to ship in more feed than usual if it is to avert a serious setback in the production of meat, dairy and poultry products.

Japanese Treasure Missing; Hint Scandal

Occupation Troops May Be Involved

Receipts for Huge Wealth Do Not 'Jibe', Say Japs

TOKYO — (AP)—A Japanese parliament committee today said it has confirmed that a large quantity of Japanese national treasure is missing and that receipts for occupation officials for some of it are "extremely unclear and figures do not jibe."

The report said also that much of the treasure may have disappeared during World War II while the property was still in Japanese hands.

Crown Missing
"We have confirmed the loss of a considerable large quantity of precious metals and diamonds, including the Empress Nagako's crown made of gold and platinum and studded with five large diamonds," the committee said.

The Empress gave the crown to the government during the war as a patriotic example.

Most of the treasure was bought by the government for war use or contributed by citizens.

The committee said the Central Materials Utilization Association which purchased precious jewels and metals of Japan during the war reported it gave the occupation the following:

"10,999.37 carats in diamonds.
"28,707.45 kan (240,000 pounds avoirdupois) of platinum.
"15 kilograms (33 pounds) of platinum from the national mint.
"532,145 kilograms (1,110 pounds) of gold and 226,947.968 kilograms (500,000 pounds) of silver.

Receipts "Unclear"
"Receipts for the occupation for these items are extremely unclear and figures do not jibe. The receipts are available at the committee."

The committee said national treasures during the war were badly supervised and carelessly recorded and that theft would have been "quite easy."

The committee concluded:
"This committee is going to determine whether there was any misconduct."

Japanese press comment was caustic and recalled the case of Col. Edward J. Murray, former U. S. custodian of the Bank of Japan, convicted in 1949 of taking nearly $85,000 wholesale value in diamonds from the bank's vaults. He contended they were a gift. Murray was sentenced to 10 years but this was cut to five and he was paroled.

Dixon Township: Here's Your Planning Commission

MEMBERS OF THE NEWLY created Dixon township planning commission listen as Henry Delattre reads legal passages providing for the commission in a book held by A. C. Higby, township supervisor and ex-officio member of the commission. The commission held its final organizational meeting last night, electing Lyle Prescott as chairman, Edgar P. Deets, standing next to Prescott, secretary-treasurer, and Delattre as vice-chairman. Others pictured are seated, left to right: Paul Frey, who represents the White Rock area; C. K. Willett; Thomas Brophy, agriculture representative; A. C. Handell; Higby; and Harry La Barr, who, while not a member of the commission, serves it as consultant in capacity of highway commissioner. Two members, C. A. Mellott and Ralph Cross, were not present. Deets also represents Swissville and Delattre represents veterans.

Prescott to Head Town Plan Board

Lyle Prescott was elected permanent chairman of the Dixon township planning commission at the group's second and final organizational meeting last night in the township offices.

Other officers chosen were Henry Delattre, vice chairman, and Edgar F. Deets, secretary-treasurer.

After organizing, the group discussed roads in the White Rock and Stony Point areas, two parks and proposed zoning considered earlier by the county board of supervisors.

To Survey Roads
C. K. Willett was named to make a survey of White Rock and Stony Point residents in connection with plans for an all-weather road in each of the two areas.

Willett also is to check with attorneys for an opinion of the rights of the town board in two parks north of the city limits. One is bounded by Swiss street and Park row and the other by Park street and North Hennepin avenue.

The commission expressed desire to improve the parks, which presently receive little maintenance, and make recreation spots out of them.

Clean Up Area
"The Public Service Co. has spent considerable money cleaning up an area west of the Borden Co. on Palmyra avenue. They have cut the weeds and even trimmed the trees," he said.

The group considered the county zoning proposal only briefly. A legal outline of zoning procedure is to be provided the commission in the future.

The commission set its meeting dates on the third Monday of each month at 8 p. m. One-year terms were established for all officers.

An "Experiment"
The commission was created by the township electors June 30. Its purpose is to make recommendations to the town board.

"This commission is sort of an

Peace, and How to Keep It, Overshadows All Other Issues, Gen. Ike Tells Newsmen

By EDWARD O. ETHELL

DENVER—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said "the outlook is not too bright" for durable world peace unless Americans gain a thorough understanding of the complex problems involved.

The Republican nominee told a news conference late Monday he'll touch on the subject in every campaign speech.

"The great subject of peace and how to obtain it," the general declared, "overshadows all other subjects because it affects all others."

But efforts of newsmen to draw out details of Eisenhower's campaign plans got nowhere. The GOP standard bearer repeated he will campaign in traditionally Democratic Dixie.

Complete Plans Soon
He indicated, however, that plans may be completed after a current round of conferences. He met Monday with Southern bankers and with Republican farm leaders in congress. Monday night, Arthur E. Summerfield, national GOP chairman, flew in with what aides said was a proposed itinerary for the next 30 days.

Harold Stassen, who campaigned unsuccessfully for the Republican nomination, is scheduled to arrive tonight.

One of those on the appointments list today was Allen Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Newsmen questioned Eisenhower about his conference with eight members of the house and senate agriculture committees.

"We found ourselves in very general agreement," the general declared.

He added that a statement issued by the law-makers would speak for him, saying, "I'm not stating in advance of the campaign my own particular ideas."

The congressman said in their statement that Eisenhower "is going to present positive, forward-looking farm policies." They also outlined no specific farm policy. One, however, Sen. Milton R. Young (R-ND), said Eisenhower told them he favors continuing some form of price supports for farm products.

For peace, Eisenhower declared the need is for "something positive and constructive." The world situation will, he added, "deteriorate without a positive approach."

The general said, "I'm not going to put myself in a position of being a messiah but I think the Republican party can do the better job."

He called for "a fresh new approach to the whole problem" and said that is one reason "for changing the world works" of the national administration.

Illinois Republicans to Hear Nixon Wednesday

SPRINGFIELD—Inspired with new campaign vigor, Illinois Republicans are expected Wednesday to stage one of the largest G.O.P. celebrations at the Illinois state fair in recent years.

Featured speaker for the celebration to be held Wednesday, Aug. 13, at the fairgrounds will be Senator Richard M. Nixon of California, the Republican nominee for vice president of the United States.

Another feature of the day's activities will be a luncheon meeting to be held at the Abraham Lincoln Hotel. At this meeting Senator Nixon will confer with Republican county chairmen, members of the Republican state central committee, Republican congressmen and nominees for congress, state candidates and present Republican state office holders.

The Republican Day program will get underway with officials and members of the party assembling at the Abraham Lincoln hotel at 10 a. m. (CDT) where a caravan of cars will be waiting to take them to the fairgrounds. The caravan will move out shortly after 10 o'clock and will proceed directly to the exposition grounds. Republican party members and other citizens are invited to join the caravan with their own cars. The caravan will not be a formal parade.

The fairground ceremonies will start at 11 a. m. in front of the

Dixon Mother Has Polio 20 Hours, Dies

Mrs. Betty Kinn, a 20-year-old Dixon mother one month away from giving birth to her second child, died Monday night at the Dixon Public Hospital from an "unusual" case of polio which she had contracted only 20 hours earlier.

Private services were held for her at 3 p. m. today at the Jones funeral home.

Mrs. Kinn had been taken ill about 10 p. m. Sunday. She was taken to the hospital where her physician diagnosed the case as an "acute bulbar" case of poliomyelitis.

An iron lung was being rushed here for her use as soon as the rapid progress of the disease was noted. But the disease struck at the central nervous system and Mrs. Kinn died at 8:24 p. m.

A last minute attempt by doctors to save the child failed.

It is believed that perhaps Mrs. Kinn might have been ill earlier and credited it to her pregnancy. She is survived by her widower, Leon, a son, Gary and her father, Henry Taylor, Dixon.

The Rev. Loren Callan officiated at today's services and burial was in Palmyra cemetery.

Stevenson In Capital For Talks

May Ask Truman To Play Second Fiddle in Fall

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson came here today for a big political pow-wow with President Truman and his cabinet on issues and strategy of the presidential campaign.

A series of talks at the White House, running into the late afternoon, was expected to frame the basic pattern for the Democratic effort to put Stevenson into the presidency.

Decide Role
One decision of high moment may be on the campaign role of Truman as a retiring President who wants the reins of government to pass to Stevenson.

Truman has shown signs of itching to hit the road against the Republicans with "give-em-hell" speeches of the kind he delivered in his own 1948 campaign.

But Stevenson and his admirers are reported desiring that Truman take a less vocal part and play a muted second fiddle to Stevenson. Reporters tried to interview Stevenson when he landed at the airport and as a police escort led him through the crowd to a White House car.

Lost In Confusion
Most of the questions and answers were lost in the confusion, but in reply to one query Stevenson said he regards his chances of beating GOP nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower as "pretty good."

Stevenson was accompanied by a staff of advisers, including his campaign manager, Wilson Wyatt.

Unless all the outward signs fail, the Illinois governor probably will tell Truman he will be glad to have his help. But Stevenson is expected to make it plain he wants no presidential whistlestop tours overshadowing his own efforts as the nominee to get his views across to the people.

One issue that may be settled is a conflict in Labor Day speaking plans for the two.

Plan Detroit Speech
William Flannigan, Stevenson's press secretary, disclosed Monday in Springfield, Ill., that the nominee was considering kicking off his campaign with a Sept. 1 speech in Detroit.

Flannigan said the Stevenson camp learned that Truman tentatively had arranged to speak in Milwaukee the same day. He said the mixup occurred, because of lack of knowledge in Springfield of Truman's plans.

Democratic leaders apparently agree that in any such conflict the President ought to defer to the nominee.

Electrocuted While Attending Family Funeral

HURRICANE, W. Va., (AP)—A 17-year-old boy came home to attend his grandmother's funeral but was electrocuted while helping his grandfather on a job.

Charles T. Hill, who was employed in Columbus, O., was helping remove steel pipe from a dry water well yesterday. A section of pipe touched a high tension wire as it was hoisted into the air.

Charles received most of the impact from the charge. His grandfather, J. T. Hill, 77, was knocked unconscious but was not otherwise hurt.

Farm Sells for $601 an Acre

JACKSONVILLE, Ill. —(AP)—A Morgan county farm was sold yesterday for $601 an acre, a price which real estate men said was an all-time high in the county.

The 140-acre improved farm was purchased by Charles N. Wright, retired Jacksonville lumber dealer, for a total of $84,140. It was sold by the estate of the late Charles L. Ranson.

The farm is on Rt. 67, three miles south of Jacksonville.

'Good Old Days' Didn't Produce Growth in Chickens Like This

By FRANK PRIEBE

Chickens grow faster than they used to. They're bred to grow faster. And they're fed to grow faster. We all know feeds have been improved over the years. But we're inclined to take these changes pretty much for granted.

I was impressed with a demonstration put on, out at Kansas State college.

They started 75 chicks, all from the same stock and the same hatch. They put 25 of them on a feed mixed according to a formula that was recommended generally 25 years ago.

They put another 25 on a feed mixed according to a formula recommended 10 years ago. And they put the remaining 25 on a feed mixed according to a formula used today.

At the end of nine weeks here's what had happened:

Out of the first bunch only eight of the chicks were still alive. They weighed less than a pound, .87 pounds, to be exact. And—considering the number of chicks lost, I suppose—it had taken 10 1/2 pounds of feed to produce a pound of gain. That was on the feed recommended 25 years ago!

Out of the second bunch they lost only one chick. At the end of the nine weeks the birds weighed about 1 1/2 pounds. And they'd used 3.2 pounds of feed for every pound of gain. That was on the feed recommended 10 years ago.

They'd raised every one of the 25 chicks in the third bunch. At nine weeks they weighed 2 1/2 pounds. And they'd used only 2 1/2 pounds of feed for every pound of gain. That was on today's feed!

Briefly, weights at nine weeks went up from .87 pounds, to 1 1/2 pounds, to 2 1/2 pounds!

And at the same time the amount of feed needed to produce a pound of chicken went down from 10 1/2 pounds, to 3.2 pounds, to 2 1/2 pounds!

A district grain dealer meeting, open to all grain dealers, grain producers and others interested will be held Sept. 2 at Ottawa in the Farm Bureau auditorium beginning at 9:30 a. m. This meeting will provide you with authentic and up-to-date information on several important subjects: The grain sanitation program of the U. S. Food and Drug administration with regard to enforcement policies, control practices for insects and rodents, the new Illinois warehouse act and revisions in CCC's handling and storage agreements.

Another important meeting coming up in early Sept. is our fall livestock outlook meeting Sept. 5.

We have just ordered a supply of University of Illinois Circular 694, entitled "Loose Housing for the Dairy Farm." It contains sketches of several arrangements for a milk room, bedded area and feeding area, which should be valuable to anyone contemplating using this system instead of stanchions. Drop me a card if you would like a copy of this circular.

A well arranged loose housing system may need no more bedding than a stall barn requires, but with a poor arrangement it may take up to two or three times as much. Loose housing requires more total space under roof to provide for bedded area.

Missouri 0-205 oats is being sold at excessive prices. It has good resistance to Race 45 or least rust and to Race 7 of stem rust. This is its main advantage over Clinton, which is susceptible to these races of rust.

Missouri 0-205 is a good variety comparable to Clinton in yield; it matures about five days earlier, but does not stand so well as Clinton.

It will be available at moderate prices. The expected 80,000 to 90,000 bushels will provide nearly every major oat-growing county in the state with enough seed to plant at least 1,000 acres. In addition, Missouri should have more than we will.

Yale Study of Mental Disease Can Be a Vital Contribution

There are today about a half million patients in mental institutions in this country. That's one out of every 300 population.

The incidence of mental disease is about one in 20. That means one out of every 20 people now has a mental disease, has had it, or will have it.

Because mental hospitals are overcrowded, many people suffering from mental disease cannot get in. Just how many is not definitely known.

Furthermore, according to the American Psychiatric association, about 45 per cent of the patients in mental hospitals are in the old-age group—"with or without psychoses," an association spokesman explains.

His point is that too many old people are being placed in public mental institutions today because rising costs of living have made it impossible for their relatives to support them.

But there is another angle of the relationship between mental disease and economic status that is being explored in a trail-breaking study by a team of Yale University scientists working with support of a $78,000 grant from the United States Public Health Service.

Already the Yale team reports it has found a higher rate of deranged persons in the lower social-economic classes and more neurotics in the higher.

Also, schizophrenia, the leading mental disease, was found to occur mostly in the lower economic classes. About 40 per cent of all mental hospital patients are schizophrenics, and unfortunately for the country's welfare, the disease strikes most heavily at younger people.

While they draw few positive conclusions from their studies thus far, the scientists suggest that the large number of seriously deranged persons in the lower economic group may be because they couldn't afford to have, or continue to have, the necessary treatment, and so the diseases became progressively worse.

Most of the poorer cases studied were in state hospitals, while 60 per cent of the more well-to-do had private care.

Generally, as the economic level of the patient rose, so did the quality of the therapeutic treatment he received.

But the study has only just gotten under way, comparatively speaking. Much remains to be done in this as in other aspects of a disease which takes such a large toll of our people. The contribution of the Yale group can be an important one.

Well, It's a Thought, Anyway...

Two seemingly unrelated items land on the desk at the same time. One says this country has the highest divorce rate in the world. The other says we drink more coffee than all the rest of the world put together.

Now how to tie them together, fraught with all kinds of hidden meaning and social significance, so they will fit right in this little space?

The only solution that occurs to us right off is to assume that there must be a lot of people like the couple that turned up out west a while back. He liked coffee but it made him sneeze all the time. She liked coffee, too, but she didn't like her husband sneezing morning, noon and night. So they got a divorce, and how much hidden meaning can you uncover in three paragraphs anyway?

THE DOCTOR SAYS:

'Skin-Writing' Condition Related to Allergies: Antihistamines Offer Temporary Prevention

Written for NEA Service
By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

A curious but common condition of the skin is described in today's first letter.

Q—When I scratch my skin it turns white shortly afterwards for a few minutes. I have noticed this for several years, and also that the skin is red and itches, particularly at night, if I start to perspire. What is the cause of this?
H. C. W.

A—This is apparently a case of dermatographism, or skin-writing, of which there are three varieties: red, white, and black. The condition is undoubtedly related to the allergies and some people who have it have other forms of allergy.

Usually, however, it has no harmful effects of any kind, though it is often possible to prevent the condition temporarily by the use of one of the antihistaminic drugs.

Q—My doctor has advised me to have my uterus out. What changes will take place after this is done? May I still become pregnant after the operation?
Reader.

A—If the uterus is taken out and the ovaries left in place, there should be no serious change in the body other than the cessation of the menses. The uterus is the medical name for womb, however, and there is no chance of becoming pregnant after this organ has been removed.

Q—Please give me some information concerning patients who have taken cortisone more than two years. I have been taking it for a year and a half and have had excellent results.

Mrs. M. B.
A—You have been taking it just about as long as anyone, and there is little or no published information as yet on persons who have taken cortisone for longer periods of time.

Q—A dear friend of mine has had a cyst in one of her breasts for about 12 years. She was told when it first appeared that women of her age (41 at the time) usually get them, and unless it bothered her, not to worry. She was also told that millions of women go around with lumps in their breasts. What is your opinion?

Mrs. T. C.

A—The fact that your friend has had the lump in her breast for 12 years is a hopeful sign, but the advice she received is risky. The presence of a lump in the breast calls for immediate examination and usually removal because no one can tell until the tumor has been examined under the microscope whether or not it is cancerous.

Q—My son, who is 16, is rapidly losing his hair. When he was 7 he had scarlet fever. Could there be any connection? There is baldness in the family but not at such an early age.
Miss J.

A—It is doubtful that scarlet fever nine years ago could be responsible for loss of hair in a 16-year-old boy. He should have his scalp looked over by a skin specialist and his general condition checked.

If nothing is found to account for the loss of hair, then it must be assumed that he is getting the family baldness exceptionally early in life.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Doctor Pegler Makes a Diagnosis of the Ailments of GOP's Vivian Kellems

(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

"If the Republican party gives Clare Luce the nomination for United States senator to finish out the term of Brien McMahon, I will actively and militantly oppose her and she will go down to a devastating and humiliating defeat."

These be the fighting words of Miss Vivian Kellems, incomparably the most Republican Republican in Connecticut, who has been ditched twice, nevertheless, by the buck Republican in command of the party machine. In 1950, rather than take this fighting expert on taxation and Republican doctrine and leader of a personal rebellion against the withholding tax waged in the courts at her own great expense, the bosses picked Prescott Bush, a Wall Street commuter who is a banking partner of the egregious Averell Harriman. Bush was licked. This year the Connecticut Republican convention was packed for Eisenhower in much more flagrant manner than the Taft Republicans were alleged to have employed against the CIO's filtrationists in Texas.

This convention handed the nomination for the next regular senatorial term to one William Purtell, who is widely unknown. It was a rather obvious and certainly unblushing design to bring about the reelection of William Benton, a rich left-wing Socialist of the "after me the deluge" school. This group of rich men includes China-Boy Luce, Clare's little husband; Marshall Field, who ran a Marxian paper in New York at great expense to the taxpayers through the deduction of his losses from taxable income; Harriman; Nelson Rockefeller and John Hay Whitney. Miss Kellems deserved the nomination so she announced that she would file as an independent and beat both Purtell and Benton.

It was well known that Brien McMahon, who still had four years to serve, was in a dying condition. When he died just after the Democratic national convention, the state Republican machine began to clank again. The nomination is to be auctioned or sold, according to custom, at a special convention in September. Clare Booth Luce, the great religious leader whose saintly countenance bespeaks a spiritual purity that somehow doesn't penetrate the consciousness of all beholders, demurely accepted the nomination in a telephone call to "Republican leaders" in Hartford. The New York Times, "a Roosevelt-New Deal propaganda organ, which offered General Eisenhower to the Republican party, covered this telephone call in a special dispatch from Hartford which did not even mention Miss Kellems.

Luce and his wife, who recently wrote a book on the lives of the saints in collaboration with others, are nominal or technical residents of Connecticut. They have a country place away from it all between Ridgefield and Danbury. Benton lives in New York and Phoenix, Ariz., but keeps a technical residence in Connecticut for political purposes.

Miss Kellems lives in Mystic where she runs a factory. She spends an occasional night in New York waging her television crusade to organize the women of the country in a rebellion against inequalities, economic heresies, Marxian principles and unconstitutional provisions in the federal tax laws. She has a subscribed following of about 100,000 women in the country at large known as The Liberty Bells. In Chicago, although Vivian was not even given a ticket to the Republican convention, she whipped up an impromptu organizational meeting of the Liberty Bells and drew 800 women and men. She is constantly on the go, making Republican speeches. No Republican in Connecticut has an individual following comparable to hers either in the state or beyond its borders.

Mrs. Luce went to Hartford shortly before the regular Republican convention and made a speech at a girls' school. "That was the first time she had set foot in Connecticut in two years," Miss Kellems said. "But now she gets Ike and Governor Adams of New Hampshire to send telegrams to Governor Lodge asking him to appoint her to the interim term. Who are they to butt into Connecticut's affairs? She has never done anything for Connecticut. She doesn't know anybody in the state except a few Park Avenue and Wall Street commuters. She doesn't care anything about Connecticut and she knows nothing about taxation. If the Republican machine nominates her, the women of Connecticut will rise up and give her a licking that she will never forget. "I am not selfish about this. The Connecticut people are sick and tired of this snooty Park Avenue attitude. These people think of the people of Connecticut as their political serfs. They use the voters to get themselves elected so they can practice their dilettante Socialism on us. They condescend to come among us only at election times, but I tell you the women are onto this game and I will campaign every city and hamlet organizing sentiment to throw these people off our backs."

Vivian said she could think of nothing more tempting than an opportunity to meet Clare face to face in a grand debate on taxation and other domestic problems of the state.

"Get her for me," Vivian said, "and I will show her up as a person absolutely uninformed on economics and taxation. I am fighting for Republican principles and the Republican machine is afraid of me because it is run by a lot of effete, patronizing penthouse Socialists through their staff of contented petty jobholders."

Mrs. Luce's collaborator on the life of St. Francis of Assisi is Paul Gallico. Thus an old relationship is resumed in a drastic change of meter. They collaborated many years ago when she was an editor of Vanity Fair and he was a budding writer on rugged phases of city life.

In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)— Exclusively Yours: It's Percy Kilbride's frail health—not Marjorie Main's unhappiness with the series—that's temporarily halted the "Ma and Pa Kettle" pictures at U-I. With two years of his studio contract to go, Percy told his U-I bosses that film work was too exhausting for him.

And Marjorie's reason for stepping out of the cast of "Dangerous When Wet" at MGM is just what the title implies. Her medics warned her against doing a swimming scene vital to the script because of surgery that removed her sinus membranes four years ago.

Staff members of a movie fan magazine with an upcoming feature predicting that Lana Turner and Fernando Lamas will never wed are quietly chewing their nails to shreds.

Jack LaRue, the heavy who hasn't been in flickers lately, doesn't like it that a pianist named Jack LaRue is thumping the ivories at a night spot right across the street from MGM.

English Producer Michael Balcon has writers working on a new Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy comedy feature, to be made in England.

PORTRAITS WAR HERO Richard Burton, the British actor who plays young Philip Ashley in "My Cousin Rachel," draws England's top movie project when he leaves Hollywood. He will star in "The Last Enemy," life story of war hero Richard Hillary, who was shot down as a fighter pilot and horribly burned. Plastic surgery gave him a new face and hands, then he rejoined the R. A. F., and was killed at the age of 23.

Questions and Answers

Q—Why are coal deposits generally found in mountainous and upland regions?

A—"There seems to be no particular reason why coal and other minerals should be found in upland regions rather than in valleys. However, those in hillsides are readily exposed, and hence they may be found and developed more easily."

Q—How deep must a fish be to be called a "deep-sea fish"?

A—"According to the American Museum of Natural History, the least depth at which fish are designated "deep-sea fish" is one hundred fathoms (600 feet)."

Q—Do members of the British royal family vote?

A—"The members of the royal family legally are eligible to vote, but British royalty does not vote, since the royal family traditionally does not take sides in politics. The government in power is always His Majesty's Government."

Q—Where is the world's most powerful atom smasher?

A—"The most powerful atom smasher known to the world is a 450,000,000 electron volt synchrocyclotron recently dedicated at the University of Chicago."

Q—Why do shaded lawns require more fertilizer than open lawns?

A—"More fertilizer is needed on lawns with shade trees than on open lawns because the spreading roots of the trees use the plant food."

Prayer for TODAY

Dear heavenly Father, accept our thanks for today's blessings. Refine our natures, making us gentle and gracious as was our great Master. Restrain us should we turn to forbidden paths. Reclothe us when we have become soiled with sinful contacts. Reguire of us sincerity of purpose. When we do evil in any way, rebuke us that we may truly repent and be restored to fellowship with thee; in Christ Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

—Forrest C. Feezor, Waco, Texas, minister, First Baptist church.

Grandma Had Lot of Work, But Not Modern Mom's Woe

Grandma wasn't so dumb. We laugh about those big Sunday dinners she used to cook but must admit Grandpa didn't rush away from them and spend the afternoon on the golf links.

Grandma admitted "Woman's work is never done." But she was honored for her role instead of being called a neurotic.

Grandma's seldom-used parlor has come in for a lot of ridicule. But at least she had a place to entertain adult company in peace and quiet.

There were no toys and comic books to shove aside before her guests could sit down.

SHE GREW OLD NORMALLY
Grandma didn't keep her youthful looks nearly as long as do women of today. It must have been a blessed relief, however, to accept age instead of waging a life-long battle against it.

We laugh today at the old phrase "Mother knows best." But Grandma found it easier to discipline children than does the modern mother, filled with doubts and uncertainties.

We think Grandma had it tough without our fancy labor-saving devices. We forget Grandma demanded and got help from all the family.

Today it isn't unusual to see Ma pushing a lawn mower while Junior reads a comic book. No, Grandma was no dope.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Bridge Error May Be Very Costly

BY OSWALD JACOBY

What should you do third hand, with ace-jack-ten of a suit over dummy's king-x-x? It is usually wise to finesse the ten, but circumstances certainly do alter cases.

In today's hand East made the mistake of finessing the ten of clubs at the first trick. He lived to regret it.

Declarer won with the queen of clubs, drew trumps with the ace and king, and then led his singleton diamond towards dummy.

West made the fine play of a low diamond, and dummy won with the king. South ruffed a diamond high and led a spade towards the dummy. When West played low, dummy ducked also, and East won with the jack. East could cash the ace of spades, but then had to return his last diamond.

Instead of ruffing, South threw his last spade. West had to take the ace of diamonds, and could then do nothing to defeat the contract. When West tried to cash the king of spades, South ruffed and entered dummy with a trump in order to take a discard on the queen of diamonds. Declarer therefore succeeded in making six trump tricks, two diamonds, and a club.

East should have realized that his partner's energetic bidding of both spades and diamonds with very weak suits could only mean that he had a singleton club, for with a doubleton club West would have been content to pass three clubs. If East had taken the ace of clubs at the first trick and returned the jack of clubs, the defenders could have taken the first seven tricks and declarer could have been set three.

Woman's Touch Improves Comfort in Rail Travel

By DOROTHY ROE
A. P. Women's Editor

A woman's touch is transforming some aspects of the railroad business.

She is Ann Elgar Stevenson, assistant to the vice president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company, who spends about half of her time these days riding the various trains of the system, keeping a weather eye out for possible improvements in comfort, cleanliness and service.

Mrs. Stevenson believes her fragile, feminine appearance. Her big blue eyes can spot a speck of dust at ten paces, and dining room stewards snap to attention at her approach. She describes her job thus:

Nagging Wife

"I'm kind of a nagging wife to the operating department. Much of my work seems to be minding other people's business. Wherever I see something amiss in any department of the system, my job is to try to correct it. This requires a great amount of diplomacy. It sounds like an unpopular sort of a job, but really it's fun. And I think I've made more friends than enemies."

Mrs. Stevenson is one of a growing group of women holding executive jobs with the nation's railroads, and their influence is to be seen on many of the country's trains. Much of Mrs. Stevenson's job entails housekeeping know-how. One of the first things she did was to institute improvements in car cleaning systems.

Waitresses on one of the line's divisions now wear smart yellow uniforms with white pique puritan collars and coronet caps.

Small Details?

Details such as piles of loose silver left on the tables, clogged salt shakers or slovenliness in the appearance of waiters all come under her eagle eye.

"You have to go slowly, so as not to offend anyone," says Mrs. Stevenson.

Glamorize Evenings Out

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Evenings out on the town make important demands on your make-up. Fluorescent lighting, for instance, changes the color tone and may cause your make-up to fade.

It's best, therefore, to pick lipstick and rouge in the dark red or blue-red range. Powder and make-up base should be rosier and slightly deeper than your skin tone.

Your nail polish should not be too pink, either. If you match it to your lipstick, you can feel confident that it is right.

Eyes demand the dramatic, too. Mascara, in color if you like, is absolutely essential. And if you are feeling particularly daring, try colored eye-shadow. Match your eye make-up to the costume you plan to wear. A touch of green shadow can also give an exciting and mysterious touch to your hazel eyes.

Hair make-up should not be forgotten. You can sprinkle some specially blended gold or silver powder through your hair, or wash in a color rinse. Keep your hair looking sleek and perfectly groomed throughout the evening by spraying it with a liquid hair-net

Thursday, Aug. 7, wedding. Rev. James Reid officiated at the 2 p. m. double ring ceremony. Mrs. Allan Watts, Earlville, aunt of the bride, was organist. Her selections included "I Love You Truly"; "At Dawning"; "I Will Follow Thee" and the traditional wedding marches.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a gown of white eyelet embroidered organza over aqua blue taffeta. The dress had a high neckline and self buttons to the waist. Her colonial bouquet was of white roses and her accessories were all white. Her rhinestone earrings were a gift from the bridegroom. The bride carried out the traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue.

Sister Maid of Honor

As her sister's maid of honor, Arlette Erbes, Sublette, wore the same style dress as did the bride, her being over pink taffeta. Both girls wore nylon 3/4 length gloves. Arlette's bouquet was like her sister's and she wore a pair of iridescent earrings, a gift from the bride.

Donald Ladenburger, West Brooklyn, was best man and ushering were Edward Erbes, Sublette, brother of the bride, and Clarence Gordon, West Brooklyn, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Mrs. Erbes watched the ceremony.

Grace, Poise Aids for Teens

By ALICIA HART

The talent of knowing how to sit yourself down with grace and poise rarely comes naturally. It takes practice and concentration.

As a teen, you are just the right age to begin thinking about such things. The next time you and your friends get together, notice how they take to their chairs.

You'll probably see some who flop down hit-or-miss fashion with arms and legs swinging in uncoordinated directions, while others seat themselves in wooden, jerky movements.

Why don't you talk the matter over with your group, and work together to perfect your sitting techniques? Criticize each other's efforts constructively.

Actually, learning to sit down is easy. Keep your back erect, but not stiff. Use a straight chair when possible. Don't ever cross your legs unless you cross them above the knee. Resting one leg on top of the other distorts the shape of your leg and is generally unflattering to your figure.

Sit with both legs slanted to one side, with the toes of the outside foot pointing away from the other foot. The outside foot should be just a little forward. This position adds to the length of the legs and makes them seem slimmer.

Never sit with the knees apart and the feet crossed. People will think you are bowlegged. And stretching your legs straight out in front of you is extremely awkward-looking.

Another good way to learn the secret of sitting is to observe the glamorous women in the movies and public life. Their movements will teach you many graceful tricks.

Flash Flood Engulfs Bus; One Passenger Swept Away

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo.—(AP)—A Dixie Greyhound bus plowed into a flash flood near here early today and a torrent of water poured through it, throwing some of the 18 passengers into panic.

An elderly Negro passenger was missing and presumed drowned. Bill Thompson, about 30, of Tulsa, Ala., was credited with saving three other passengers who were swept off their feet by the swift current after leaving the bus.

Creek Rages
The big bus was swamped about eight miles south of here near the town of Ansell, where a cloud-burst turned normally-quiet Ramsey Creek into a raging torrent. Water poured over U. S. Highway 61 at a depth of five feet at one time.

Mrs. S. R. Cook of Cottontale, Ala., a passenger, said most of the passengers were asleep or dozing when the bus plowed into the flood and was almost swept off the highway.

"I thought we would die," she said. "We got so much water—it was gushing in every place. Most of us were standing up then. Some were trying to open the emergency door."

Panic-Stricken
Mrs. Cook said several of the passengers were panic-stricken and climbed on top of others trying to get out of the bus.

The bus was left tilted at a 45-degree angle off a shoulder of the highway, water swirling through it and over the passengers.

Sgt. Hugh M. Ware of Thelma, Ala., kicked out a rear window and several passengers climbed out and were promptly swept off their feet by the strong current. Thompson, one of the passengers, waded into the flood and found several persons struggling in the water and shouting for help.

Fellow passengers said Thompson, after taking off most of his clothing, dove into the flood and rescued three persons. These included two Negro children who were clinging to bushes in the water.

Tells Rescue
Floyd Simmons, a Negro of St. Louis, told newsmen he and a man he believed to be Thompson caught hold of an elderly Negro who was in trouble.

"We all rolled over and over in the water," Simmons said. Simmons added that they had to let go of the man and that he was swept away by the current. None of the passengers knew the name of the missing man.

It was about 1:30 a. m. (CST). The bus was on its way from St. Louis to Memphis.

About five inches of rain poured down during the cloudburst earlier in the night.

Most of the passengers remained on the bus until a wrecker was summoned from Cape Girardeau.

The wrecker also stalled on the flooded highway. The passengers climbed from the bus onto the

Ogle County Board Gets $350 Bill From Sheriff for Special Gambling Prober

OREGON — The Ogle county board of supervisors was expected to act upon a bill filed with it this morning by a special investigator who gathered evidence for raids on Rochelle gambling spots recently.

The investigator, Clarence Niles, Rockford, has submitted a bill for $350. He was hired by the Ogle county sheriff's office, which is provided an annual fund for such expenses.

But the fund is reportedly exhausted for this year. And the county board's action on the bill, which normally would not be submitted to it, is awaited with interest by courthouse observers here.

State's Atty. Wayne Bettner has disclaimed any responsibility for hiring Niles.

Hear Maxey

A request concerning W. W. Maxey, Polo police magistrate who was to appear in justice court this afternoon involved in assault charges against two Polo officials, was heard by the board this morning.

Raymond Good, Polo mayor, asked the board to table an appointment of W. W. Maxey as Polo police magistrate. The Polo city council has previously appointed Maxey, but a question has arisen as to the council's authority of making the appointment.

Good asked the board to table its appointment of Maxey until legality of the council's action could be checked.

Name Two

Maxey currently is involved in assault charges against William Albright and Cecil Hoyle, Polo police chief and city councilman, respectively.

By a 17-7 vote the supervisors passed a resolution raising their travel pay. The compensation, previously five cents a mile, was boosted to 7½ cents a mile.

Two roads were ticketed for improvements. Both are to be graded.

Buy New Cars

Two contracts, one for a new car for the county nurse and the other for coal at the county farm, were granted.

The Late Chevrolet Sales, Ore.

gon, received contract for the car on its bid of $1,100. The car is a 1952 model four-door sedan.

The coal contract, for 100 tons, went to H. E. Coffman, Mt. Morris, on his bid of $13.20 a ton.

Provisions were made for rearranging the courthouse interior to provide more room. Five supervisors were expected to be appointed this afternoon to a permanent building planning committee, which would effect the rearrangement.

He's All for Taxes . . .

BOSTON.—(AP)—Henry Long likes collecting taxes so much he even does it on his own time.

The energetic Massachusetts tax commissioner is supposed to be on a month's vacation right now, but he's spending it in his cluttered cubby-hole office at the state house.

He's entitled to four weeks off a year but he hasn't taken a day of it since he was appointed in 1920. And there's no extra pay involved either.

Long's philosophy is "If you have a week's vacation it takes a week to get over it; if you have a month it takes a month to recover."

Don't get Long wrong, though; he's all for vacations—for the others. His advice to vacationers is: "Eat hearty, drink hearty, and go to the races." All are heartily taxed by the state.

3,750 Walk Out in Four Armour Plants

Contracts Expire at Midnight; Two Other Companies Negotiate

CHICAGO—(AP)—With 3,750 of its members engaged in wildcat strikes, the CIO United Packing-house Workers Union's contracts with the last of the major packers expired at 12:01 a. m. today.

Workers left their jobs in four Armour & Company plants Monday after the union's contract with Armour ended Sunday midnight.

The contracts with Swift, Cudahy and Wilson ran out today.

Union officials said they did not authorize the walkouts, but that they could not guarantee action by union locals.

Union officials met in fruitless negotiations Monday with representatives of Swift, Armour and Cudahy. Another meeting is scheduled later today and a session with Wilson representatives is slated for Wednesday.

An Armour spokesman said walkouts involved 250 workers at the company's Atlanta, Ga., plant; 1,500 at St. Joseph, Mo.; 2,000 at St. Paul, Minn., and a partial work stoppage at Tifton, Ga., where some 400 are employed.

Armour employs about 30,000 UPW members in 26 plants throughout the nation.

Charles T. Alsip of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service is assisting in the peace efforts.

The union is seeking a 30 cents hourly wage boost and other benefits. A union spokesman said the best offer from Armour was a "package," raising pay and benefits by a company-estimated 5.4 cents an hour. He contended the offer was closer to 4 cents an hour.

The company said common laborers, representing about one third of the working force, now average $1.41 an hour. It said the average hourly wage for all workers is about $1.68.

To Build $1.2 Billion Atom Plant in Ohio

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission will build a new $1,200,000,000 plant in Southern Ohio, Rep. Elston (R-O) said today. The plant will produce Uranium-325, a key atomic substance.

An aide to Elston told a reporter the new gaseous diffusion plant will be located on a 6,500-acre tract in a sparsely-settled area about 18 or 20 miles north of Portsmouth. It had been said previously that a new plant would be located somewhere in the Ohio Valley.

The plant site will lie between Piketon and Wakefield on the Scioto river. Exact boundaries will be determined after detailed engineering surveys, the commission advised Elston.

Some 50 families will be relocated.

The new plant is considered important in the AEC's big expansion program for which Congress voted funds in the closing days of its recent session.

AEC has said between 4,000 and 5,000 persons will be employed at the Ohio plant, which will be completed in three or four years. Some 34,000 workers will be needed on the construction job.

Site surveys were made in Kentucky, Ohio, Tennessee, Indiana, Illinois and West Virginia. Various communities in those states bid for the plant.

Police Foil Lockout Plan By Motorist

CHICAGO—(AP) — When Titus Werner, 39, rolled up his windows and locked himself in his car, he thought he had stumped two policemen who wanted to question him Monday about an alleged traffic violation.

He didn't.

Policemen Wayne Steffen and Peter Kammarala merely called a private towing service and had Werner's car pulled to the Garfield Park police station.

At the station, Werner was charged with resisting, arrest, drunken driving, failure to have a driver's license and with ignoring a stoplight. His son, Ronald, 17, a passenger, was charged with disorderly conduct.

Both were freed on bond, pending a court appearance Sept. 10.

Coal-carrying self-unloading lake vessels can discharge their cargoes at the rate of 2,100 tons per hour.

Market for Room Coolers Soars With Summer Heat

NEW YORK —(AP)— Sizzling days this summer brought such a rush of customers for room coolers that most manufacturers were quickly sold out for the rest of the season.

Had they guessed how hot it was to be, they would have made more room air-conditioners, and doubtless would have sold them.

Most manufacturers insist the market for air conditioning of homes is a growing one, and that they will sell more next year than this, no matter what kind of summer it turns out to be.

Sell $30,000

Sales of room air conditioners in 1951 are put at 250,000. This year's sales are estimated at 350,000. Harold B. Donley, general manager of General Electric's room cooler department, predicts that next year industry sales will reach 400,000 units, an increase of 14 per cent. Some others in the field think his figure too low.

He says General Electric itself plans to boost production by 35 per cent next year. And he believes that by 1961 one million room air conditioners a year will be sold, mostly for home use.

See Record Market

Morton L. Clark, president of Universal Major Elec Appliances, Inc., Lima, Ohio, predicts that even if next summer isn't the sizzler this one has been, it will be a record market. He says he al-

Cool Over Nation as Texas Bakes

By The Associated Press

An August heat wave baked most of Texas and parts of the Southwest today while relatively cool weather spread across the central portion of the nation.

The mercury vaulted to 109 degrees Monday in Presidio, Tex., and Phoenix and Yuma, Ariz., and the U.S. Weather Bureau in Chicago said more 100-plus heat was in store for the same areas today.

Dallas had its 10th consecutive day Monday of readings 100 degrees or higher. The heat and dry spell in Texas has damaged pastures and crops, including cotton.

Cooler weather covered the upper Great Lakes, the middle and upper Mississippi Valleys and most of the Plains states. Warmer weather was reported in New England and Montana.

Showers sprinkled the lower Lakes region southwestward through the Ohio and middle Mississippi Valley to the Central Plains states. There also were scattered showers along the Gulf states and in the Central and Southern Rockies.

Watermelon is a high speculative crop, its sale fluctuating with the weather. More are sold in warm weather.

ready has advance orders for nearly 10,000 units.

Fedders-Quigan Corp. talks of doubling its output of coolers next year. Crosley considers a 75 per cent increase. Carrier predicts a 50 per cent sales increase. Philco, York, and Radio Corp. of America also have increased production in the planning stage.

Opens Business

KEITH BARGER, former Penney store assistant manager at LaSalle, announced today the opening of Dixon's newest ready-to-wear store located at 206 W. First St. A native of Charleston, Ia., he has been associated with ready-to-wear sales for 12 years. He, his wife, Eleanor, and their two children, Pam and Steven, will make their home at 413 Crawford avenue. Dixon's new businessman says he selected this city after surveying many other communities in northern Illinois.

PUMP UP THOSE FOOTBALLS, BOYS, BARNEY'S BACK IN DIXON

DIXON'S NEW FOOTBALL coach, Don Barnhart, has arrived in Dixon, and the husky athlete who starred for Dixon high school in the early '30s will be ready to greet the 1952 crop of DHS hopefuls when

HUGH'S VIEWS OF SPORTS

It's a mean trick to go calling on a family the first afternoon after it arrives in town. Especially if you're a stranger. There's bound to be a lot of unpacking and cleaning going on. Moving is just plain hard work, there's no getting around it.

THIS COLUMN went calling on Dixon's new football coach, Don Barnhart, Monday afternoon, and found Barnhart and his wife, Cornelia, in the midst of the "moving in" operation.

Barnhart was stripped to the waist, struggling with some appliances in the kitchen. However, he was glad to rest a few minutes while we talked.

MINUS HIS SHIRT, it was easy to see that Barnhart may well be capable of personally showing the Dixon boys how that mousetrap play is made when September rolls around.

He weighs 210, "five pounds less than my playing weight in college."

"BARNEY," as his wife calls him, is anxious to tackle the local football problem, but he isn't anxious to say much about the situation until he sees what is in store for him.

"What about football in Dixon this fall?" we asked him. "YOU KNOW MORE about it than I do," he replied, "I'll have to wait and see what things look like."

Barnhart won't have to wait long. In just two weeks, on Aug. 25, he will greet Dixon high school's 1952 squad for its first practice session.

WHAT FOOTBALL system will Barnhart use in Dixon? Well, it looks like Sam Owen's short-punt formation will be replaced by the Barnhart single wing, "not quite the Michigan single wing," he says, but any way it'll be the single wing."

Before Aug. 25 Barnhart and Cornelia have a lot of settling to do in their home at 503 N. Third av., in Swissville. Their two children, Becky, who is 1½, and Paul, a three-year-old replica of his father, also will be getting acquainted. The first afternoon in Dixon, however, the kids settled for an afternoon nap.

WE PAID A VISIT to some other kids Monday afternoon and evening.

The Amvet Junior league baseball boys held their annual picnic Monday afternoon at Reynolds field, and Monday night the Minor league All-Star game was played. Both events were worth attending.

IN THE GAME, Laddie Canfield, and his Lincoln-Loveland-South Central mates took good care of their North Central-St. Mary's opponents. It was a well-played game and drew a good crowd.

The picnic was a sure-fire success from the start. There was plenty of chow available, and the kids erased it in true kids' style.

TAKE EDWARD LONG for instance. Ed plays third base for the Freeman team. He also is a carrier boy for The Telegraph. Monday afternoon he was afraid his paper route might make him late for the feast.

We checked with Ed Monday night and found that while he had arrived a little late, he still managed to consume two hot dogs, three bottles of pop, two cups of ice cream, two cup cakes and some potato chips. Ah, youth.

Lincoln-Loveland Stars Win, 7-2

Final Amvet Game Played On Monday

Swanson, Canfield, Knouse Pitch for Baseball Winners

Tight pitching was the key to victory for the Lincoln-Loveland-South Central All-Stars Monday night.

Wayne Swanson, Laddie Canfield and Dave Knouse limited North Central-St. Mary's to only three hits for a 7-2 victory in the Amvet Minor league All-Star game at Reynolds field.

This trio produced a total of 12 strikeouts in the six-inning game that ended Amvet play for this season.

A big fourth inning, in which four runs scored, meant victory for the Lincoln-Loveland group.

Tom Coffey, Smokey Rink and Stan Dunphy pitched for the losers and did a creditable job. They gave up only five hits, but walks and errors led to their downfall.

A picnic for all Amvet baseball players preceded the All-Star game. It was supervised by Louis Leger, Amvet baseball program director.

The winning team Monday night was managed and coached by Jim Bruce and Howard Mighell. The losers were handled by Bob Hill and Graham Huffman.

Hickman's Aide Named Yale Coach

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—(AP)—Jordan Olivar, who joined the Staff only a few months ago, was named today as Yale's acting head football coach. He succeeds Herman Hickman.

Hickman, one of the nation's best known coaches, quit yesterday for private business. He had eight years to go on a 10-year appointment.

Hickman took a public relations job with the General Cigar Co. of New York.

Olivar was appointed acting head football coach for the 1952 season only. His experience includes six years at Villanova, where he also captained the 11 as a senior, and three years at Loyola of Los Angeles.

Hickman came to Yale from West Point in 1948. His teams here won 16 games, lost 18 and tied two.

Kentucky Cagers Ousted For Year by Conference

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—(AP)—Kentucky, a temporary castout from the conference its basketball forces ruled with an iron fist, today tackled the project of filling 11 open dates on its cage slate.

A one-year suspension from the Southeastern Conference Monday levied for the school's laxity in administering its sports program, left Kentucky with only 10 scheduled basketball games.

Gridders Ineligible
In addition, the SEC ruled that two football players were ineligible for future participation and fined Kentucky $500 for each of them.

The basketball suspension by the SEC executive committee means Kentucky can play no conference school, but leaves the Wildcats free to play any school outside the conference.

On the heels of the executive committee's announcement, SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore announced he was ruling two football players ineligible for further athletic participation. There are Gene Donaldson, tagged by Coach Paul Bryant as a "great" prospect and listed prominently for All-America, consideration, and Chester Lukawski. Both are guards and both are from East Chicago, Ind.

Talks Of Aid
Moore said Donaldson received aid over and above a Southeastern Conference scholarship. Lukawski, he said, received a cash inducement before entering Kentucky.

Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of Kentucky, said the school would not attempt to defend the Lukawski case, although it was unaware the player was paid to enroll. But in the Donaldson case, he said, the big guard was guilty of no more than accepting spare time employment that netted him less

No Place Like Home: Sauer

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs today were happy to be home—Wrigley field, where Hank Sauer hits so many of those homers.

Hank had a big day, a perfect day at the plate, Monday. He batted a pair of two-run homers, a single and collected two walks to help set down the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-2.

The big blows were Hank's 29th and 30th homers of the year. That's as many as he got in all of 1951. And the Cubs still have 16 games to play this season.

The White Sox had planned to throw South paw Shuck Stobbs against St. Louis Browns' Gene Bearden Monday. Rainy weather changed the day of the game, but not the starters, as it will be Stobbs and Bearden at St. Louis today. Stobbs has a 7-8 record against Bearden's 5-2.

Monday night's postponement has been re-scheduled as the first game of a two-night doubleheader in St. Louis Sept. 20.

TODAY A YEAR AGO—Ben Hogan won the $12,500 first prize in the Tam O'Shanter Golf Tourney with a 273, 15 under par.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Brooklyn lost to Boston, 9-2, but maintained its three-game league lead over St. Louis, which also lost.

Giants Fading Away

New Miracle Needed After Double Loss

By JACK HAND
AP Sports Writer

The time is now for the little miracle of 1952. This fateful day — Aug. 12, — again finds the New York Giants, rocking and reeling, far in the wake of front-running Brooklyn.

Nine games back — instead of 13 or 14 as they were last year — the Giants show no signs of an August-September drive such as thrilled the nation in '51. But there was little hope a year ago, either.

Maglie Ailing
Sal Maglie is ailing. Willie Mays is in the Army. Monte Irvin still is below par. Larry Jansen isn't winning. The outlook for another miracle is even darker than last year.

The schedule brings the Giants to Brooklyn tonight for a three-game series. A sweep for the Giants is almost a must.

The Brooks come into the big series with all guns booming. Gil Hodges, Roy Campanella and Jackie Robinson hammered home runs last night in a big six-run rally in the sixth inning at Philadelphia to earn an even break for the night.

Robin Roberts pitched the Phils to a 7-2 victory in the first half of a two-night doubleheader. The Phils were out front in the second game, too, on Bill Nicholson's three-run pinch homer in the fifth until the Dodger homer barrage started. When it was over, Brooklyn had won the second game 9-5.

Giants Lose Twice
Double disaster was the story for the Giants in Boston, where they lost to the six-place Braves, 11-0 and 4-2.

Shoddy relief pitching lost the first with New York blowing a 10-7 lead while the Braves rallied for four in the eighth.

Low Burdette held the Giants to five hits in the second game.

Allie Reynolds' two-hit shutout and 150th major league victory was the big news in the American League as the New York Yankees blanked Boston, 7-0, opening up a 2½-game lead to idle Cleveland.

Mickey Mantle hit his 17th and 18th homers plus a double in the attack on Sid Hudson and two successors.

Cleveland and Detroit were rained out. So were St. Louis and Chicago in the American.

Washington split two with Philadelphia, the Senators taking the first, 6-5, and dropping the other, 2-1.

In the remaining big league game, Cincinnati drove Pittsburgh even deeper into the National League cellar with a 10-4 romp.

Plan Huge TV, Radio Hookup For Star Game

CHICAGO —(AP)— A television and broadcast hookup billed as the largest ever arranged for a sports contest is on tap for Friday night's College All-Star vs. Los Angeles Rams football game.

The Admiral Corporation, sponsors of the TV-radio coverage, said 55 video stations will carry a coast-to-coast telecast of the Soldier Field contest. Some 400 Mutual Broadcasting System radio stations will carry it, the corporation said. Jack Brickhouse will do the TV commentary. Jack Drees and Al Helfer will share the descriptive work for radio.

Admiral estimated TV and radio would carry the game to 35,000,000 persons.

U. S. Needs More Dentists, Truman's Committee Finds

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The President's Commission on Health Needs of the Nation was told today that thousands more dentists, nurses and medical assistants are needed to care for the American people.

Summaries of panel discussions held during the last two months by 21 medical, military and lay experts were presented at the opening of a two-day session by the commission.

Indicate Shortage
The panel summaries indicated the exact shortage of trained people, including physicians and surgeons, depends upon how U. S. medical care is "organized."

Proposing a plan for doing this is one purpose of the commission. President Truman appointed its members last December. He has been plugging for a national compulsory health insurance plan. The commission was told to study the facts and present a program for "safeguarding and improving the health of the nation."

The American Medical Association, opposed to what it calls "socialized medicine," has described the appointment of the Truman commission an act of "political expediency."

Need More Dentists
The panel summaries estimated about 3,000 dentists are being turned out each year, but around 3,400 are needed to maintain the proportion of dentists to total population at its present level.

They also estimated thousands more nurses are needed each year than are trained and said the American Hospital Association has reported 47,000 job vacancies in such fields as laboratory technicians, occupational therapy, X-ray technicians and hospital administration.

It was estimated that less than one-half of Americans seek dental care each year. Members of the dental panel agreed that "adequate" dental care is not available to all citizens.

Train Pelted With Mystery Bullets, Rocks

SHENANDOAH JUNCTION, W. Va., (AP) — Mysterious shots and rocks hurled out of the darkness as a Norfolk and Western passenger train pulled out of town last night.

The engineer and a brakeman said rifle fire zinged by close to them. A rock broke a window in a passenger car but none of the 15 passengers were injured.

Railroad officials knew of no reason for the attack.

City Slot 'Fines' Not Deductible From Taxes

TRACY, Calif. — (AP) — This city's police judge and police chief said today they see nothing wrong in a former city practice of regularly fining slot machine operators while the slots stayed in action.

Details came to light Monday in Washington when the U. S. Tax Court ruled that Charles A. Clark, former Tracy slot machine operator, could not deduct $32,225 in fines from his income for tax purposes.

Clark told the court he used to have an arrangement with the city under which he was allowed to operate the illegal slots, so long as he paid the city $25 a month in fines for each machine.

Clark made the deductions on his income tax returns from 1944 through 1946 under the heading of "taxes, licenses, and permits."

But the court, in pointing out that the city did not issue him a permit for his slots and that the machines were illegal in California, called the arrangement a "sham."

There was no dispute today from either Chief of Police E. C. Wyman or Police Court Judge Fen Jackson that the fines had been assessed and paid.

Both declared the fines were "legitimate fines" and went from the police court into the city coffers.

AFL Group Blasts High Living Costs

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor has used the opening of its executive council meeting as a chance to blast the high cost of living and predict new price boosts soon.

But the council avoided saying what should be done about the problem, in a statement issued Monday.

"There is no justification whatsoever for attributing the present price spiral to wage adjustments," he said.

The blame belongs on big business and "profiteering right down the line, from the wholesale to the retail level," said the council.

The council continued its five-day meeting today.

AFL President William Green said, "We don't want to suggest what should be done, but the government should do something."

The 79-year-old AFL president said the union favored strong retail price controls but did not advise a special session of Congress in order to get them. "We are not enthusiastic about a special session because these Southern Democrats and Northern Republicans control the Congress," he said.

Gen. Gay's Son Missing After Plane Crashes

FALMOUTH, Mass.—(AP)—The Air Force listed as missing Monday Capt. Hobart R. Gay, Jr., 28, whose jet fighter plane crashed Sunday in Vineyard Sound.

He is the son of Army Maj. Gen. Hobart R. Gay, who commanded the Fifth Cavalry division in Korean fighting.

Captain Gay was a veteran of 105 combat missions in Korea. He was a 1946 West Point graduate.

New York Crime Shows Increase

NEW YORK —(AP)—New York City had 132 homicides and 22,005 burglaries in the first six months of 1952, the police department reports.

The figures compare with 116 homicides and 14,961 burglaries in the comparable period of 1951.

Police figures showed yesterday that major crimes in every category increased sharply for the six-month period.

Alger Hiss Case Bobs Up To Plague Gov. Stevenson

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Gen. Eisenhower and Gov. Stevenson can try to keep this campaign on a high and impersonal plane, talking about issues.

But issues don't just float around in the air. People are attached to them on both sides. And, since people have names, names will be used in the campaign.

Stevenson himself already has mentioned Sen. Joseph McCarthy as an issue because of the kind of anti-Communist campaign the Wisconsin Republican has conducted. Stevenson wondered out loud how Eisenhower could support McCarthy.

"Horsemeat Adlai"
McCarthy, running for reelection, called newsmen Monday to his Grindstone Lake, Wis., retreat, where he is recovering from abdominal surgery, and said:

"Horsemeat Adlai should brush the odor of Alger Hiss off his toga before he advises Eisenhower."

He referred to disclosures that horsemeat was sold for human consumption in Illinois during Stevenson's regime and to the governor's deposition on Hiss' character in the latter's perjury trial.

Stevenson was on the receiving end of a dig about the Hiss matter at the Democratic convention during the polling of a state delegation. An anti-Stevenson delegate announced the man he was voting for was not a friend of Alger Hiss, former state department employee who was convicted of perjury after denying Whittaker Chambers' charge that he had been a member of a Communist ring in the government.

Worked With Hiss
Stevenson had worked briefly with Hiss in the Agriculture Adjustment Administration in the early New Deal days. Later he worked in the state department while Hiss was there. No one has offered evidence that the two men were friends. But when Hiss was on trial the first time—he was convicted at his second trial—his lawyers asked Gov. Stevenson for a deposition.

They asked him to say for the court record what Hiss' reputation had been among the people who worked with Hiss and Stevenson. Stevenson said it was good. He later commended the jury verdict against Hiss.

About a week ago Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois took a poke at Stevenson for having been in the state department when Hiss was there.

Calls It Stupid
Still later Republican Governor Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland swiped at Stevenson for making the favorable deposition about Hiss. The most he could give Stevenson credit for in that situation was "stupidity."

The fact that Stevenson is divorced will probably be introduced into the campaign, too. So far Eisenhower, except for some suggestions that he is ignorant about domestic affairs, has escaped pretty well, but this probably won't go on very long.

Counties in Illinois Are Drought Zones

WASHINGTON—(AP) — Seven counties in Southern Illinois Monday were designated drought disaster areas by the Agriculture Department.

They are Gallatin, Hardin, Johnson, Massac, Polk, Saline and Williamson counties.

Farmers in the designated areas are eligible for loans from the Farmers Home Administration to stay in production if they have suffered substantial losses and have no other credit available to them.

Illinois Man Held for His Wife's Murder

WILKES-BARRE, Pa.—(AP) — A Luzerne county jurist has ruled a 46-year-old Edwardsville machinist must face grand jury action in connection with the slaying of his wife near here last June 10.

Jonah L. Roberts was remanded to Luzerne county prison following a hearing yesterday which produced testimony from eight commonwealth witnesses concerning details surrounding the death of 45-year-old Mary Roberts.

The woman was shot to death and Roberts had a bullet wound in his shoulder. He told state police two hitch-hikers had lured them to a lonely road and shot them both when his wife resisted the advances of one.

Judge Thomas M. Lewis denied bail to Roberts in jailing him to await action by the grand jury, which convenes Aug. 25.

A slender blonde woman, 24-year-old Frances Allen of Shick-shinny, testified she had 25 trysts with Roberts over a period of five months while his wife still lived. She is employed at a dress factory where Roberts worked as a machinist.

Another witness, Joshua Bryant, testified Roberts purchased a .32-caliber revolver at Bryant's bicycle shop at Kingston April 25.

Hold Cabbie In Fake Bomb Holdup Plot

CHICAGO, (AP) — A cab driver who was duped into a bizarre threat to blow up a West Side bank in a $40,000 extortion plot was seized Monday.

Police said the driver, entered the Security National Bank with a suitcase and handed a sealed note to bank teller Joseph Bonzell.

The note demanded $40,000 and said if it wasn't forthcoming a "radio controlled bomb" in the suitcase would be exploded. Bonzell warned officials, who summoned police.

They seized cab driver Edward Jones, a 27-year-old Negro, standing at the teller's cage. They snatched the suitcase and took it to a vacant lot where they tried to set it off with a detonating cap. The bomb turned out to be a dud, just some wires protruding from a metal box.

Australian bushmen eat various types of raw insect larvae, says the National Geographic Society.

Parents Plead For U. S. Aid In Finding Son

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The parents of John Hvasta, an ex-GI who reportedly escaped from a Red prison in Czechoslovakia, have a promise from the State department that it will take "definite action" to try to get more information about their son.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hvasta and another son, Steve, 22, came here from Hillside, N. J., yesterday to ask State department aid.

The Czech government reported last Monday that John Hvasta escaped from a Communist prison near Bratislava Jan. 2. At the time he was serving a 10-year sentence on conviction of charges—denounced by this government as baseless—that he was an American spy.

No word has been heard from him since. Yesterday, however, a Czech refugee named Jaroslav Burec fled in Munich, Germany, that Hvasta escaped with him and four other prisoners, and he was confident he was still alive and is hiding in Czechoslovakia.

All four sets of parents said the double marriage would be annulled immediately. But the girls' parents signed criminal complaints against the boys, one a sailor from San Diego.

Annul Marriage Of 2 Girls, 13; Husbands Held

TUCSON, ARIZ.—(AP)—Two 13-year-old girls faced indignant parents and marriage annulments today and their youthful husbands of one day faced possible criminal action as the aftermath of a joint weekend elopement.

In Nogales, Ariz., the justice of the peace who married them said he "told the kids they didn't look old enough."

Judge Fred Allen said the couples signed sworn affidavits that they were over the state legal minimum of 16 and 18. He said the statements are on record at the Santa Cruz county courthouse.

For the baby-faced Tucson girls, their return was an unhappy one. One sobbed loudly as her 17-year-old husband was arraigned on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He was ordered bound over to the Juvenile Court.

All four sets of parents said the double marriage would be annulled immediately. But the girls' parents signed criminal complaints against the boys, one a sailor from San Diego.

Some varieties of watermelon are cannon-ball round and some others are cylindrical like sausages.

People Want To See Disks, Declares Prof.

People see "flying saucers" simply because they want to see them, a Northwestern university professor has declared.

Basing his observations on a continuing study of public opinion conducted at the university over the past several years, Dr. Curtis MacDougall, professor of journalism, said that people become convinced there are such things as flying saucers or flying disks, look for them in the sky—and consequently think they see them.

But he sees a ray of hope in our current attitude toward the phenomenon. "We're improving," he said. "Today we at least accept a scientific explanation to the saucers, even though that explanation may be space ships from Mars. It wasn't too many years ago when we would have labelled the thing as 'supernatural, rather than 'super-scientific'."

Even five years ago, MacDougall notes, the scientists couldn't get a word in edgewise because of the apparent hysteria. Today we at least listen to their premise that unusual light refractions may be caused by varying temperatures of air layers.

We've had scares like this for years, MacDougall said, ranging from Edgar Allan Poe's trans-Atlantic balloon hoax to Orson Welles' famed Martian invasion broadcast.

"Maybe visitors from other planets would be a good thing," MacDougall conjectures. "It might serve to unify us for 'peace on earth.'"

Japs Charge Soviet Plot

TOKYO — (AP) — Kyodo News Agency said today the Japan Communist party is publishing secret military manuals for its members, under such titles as:

"How to Grow Flower Bulbs," "Engineering Handbook," "How to Grow Saplings," "Useful Birds and Harm Birds," and "How to Analyze Nutrition."

One of the purposes of early automobile clubs was to overcome antagonism of lively stable operators who frequently barred "horseless carriages" from their premises.

Middle-East Communists Winning the Cold War in the Moslem World While the Western Diplomats Slumber

By LEON DENNEN

PARIS—(NEA)—U. S. and western diplomats are becoming painfully aware that while their diplomacy is slumbering, Middle East Cominform agents are winning the hot-cold war throughout the Moslem world.

Few Arabs shed tears over the abdication of Egypt's King Farouk—as corrupt and dissolute a monarch as ever ruled this area of abject misery, religious fanaticism and revolutionary fervor. But much more underlies the present political upheavals in Egypt, Iran, Tunisia, Morocco and other Arab countries.

As the Faris Humanite, the Cominform's chief mouthpiece in the West, said: "From Tunisia to Teheran the revolutionary movement for independence is growing."

According to U. S. intelligence reports, the Russians have recently intensified their campaign of penetration in the Middle East. Cominform agents feverishly seek to exploit the "Arab awakening"—the developing ferment of political self-consciousness among the Arab people. Throughout the Moslem world they plot subversion and civil strife with comparative freedom.

Though Gen. Mohammed Naguib Bey, who ousted Farouk, is certainly not a Communist, the Cominform's expert hand is now clearly seen behind the army's coup d'etat in Egypt. Strong Communist cells have long been known to exist among Egypt's students and young army officers. The Cominform has been especially successful in infiltrating the extremely pro-nationalist Wafd party and the fanatical Moslem Brotherhood who, together with the young army officers and students, plotted Farouk's overthrow.

It is to these groups that Gen. Naguib Bey will now have to look for support if he is to stay in power.

A number of well known Moscow-trained agents have recently returned from Russia to the Middle East. U. S. intelligence reports indicate. Led by Mullah Mustapha Barzani, religious chief of the Kurdish tribes in the Barzan region of Iraq, and Moustafa el Ariss, Lebanese Communist trade union leader, they have established a Cominform net that extends from Casablanca to New Delhi.

Cominform cells are said to be springing up literally overnight in Iraq, Iran, Syria and Lebanon. Syria and Lebanon are the major centers of Cominform propaganda in the Middle East. The Arabic printing presses in Damascus and Beirut are printing most of the Communist propaganda that is circulated throughout the Arab world.

Transjordan and Saudi Arabia, with their more primitive economic and social structures, are for the present harder nuts for the Kremlin to crack. But there is little doubt that the Cominform's Tudeh party was chief instigator of the organized bloody riots in Iran which returned Premier Mohammed Mossadegh to power.

Mossadegh is outwardly at the height of his power. Actually he is a prisoner of the Communists. He owes his return to office to the newly revealed Communist power of the streets, which he can hardly hope to control.

Widespread hunger, disease and political corruption in the Middle East is the Cominform's greatest ally in this strategic and oil-producing area. Western dissension and failure on the part of the NATO powers to coordinate their policies in the entire Mediterranean area has given Russia the edge in the hot-cold war.

HANDS AGAINST THE WEST are raised by 10,000 Communist-led demonstrators marching in Teheran, Iran, one of the Moslem nations where Reds are exploiting the "Arab awakening."

The Arab world is not yet lost to the western camp. But now is the 11th hour for the West—especially the U. S., which still retains some prestige in the Middle East—to make basic policy decisions and take decisive action.

Such decisions must take into account the legitimate nationalist aspirations of the Arab people, whether in French North Africa or elsewhere, experts on Russia in the West believe.

In the event of war a successful thrust by Russia's southern-front armies might overrun the Middle East without much difficulty. This would at once deprive the NATO powers of more than 20 per cent of their oil output flowing from Middle East wells, isolate the strategic Suez Canal and endanger the U. S. air bases in Cyprus.

Excepting Turkey, there is not a single government that is both stable and strong in the Middle East—not even Israel, which is energetic and progressive but still economically insecure.

In World War II the British eliminated the race course and cricket fields at Gibraltar to make way for a modern airfield.

Vodka Still The Popular Russian Drink

By EDDIE GILMORE

MOSCOW — (AP) — Over the years vodka has remained the most popular drink in Russia.

Beer probably comes second and sweet wines third. The soft-drink is especially popular in the summer, but it has never really challenged vodka, beer and wine.

Vodka is a distillate from rye, wheat, potatoes, fruit, or ordinary sugar. Its alcoholic strength is from 40 per cent upward.

Prefers Vodka

There is such a thing as a cocktail, which is even called that. But it's popular mostly in the big cities and you probably couldn't get a peasant to drink one. He'd prefer vodka.

Styles of drinking vary in different countries, but the real and accepted way to drink vodka is from a small glass and all in one gulp. It's not very good form to sit and sip your vodka as you would a drink of whisky, or a martini or manhattan. You just pick it up, tilt it toward a friend in a toast, turn back the head, open the mouth and swallow.

Drinks With Food
The Russian will hardly ever drink vodka without eating. It just isn't the thing to do. It doesn't have to be a meal. A piece of bread and butter, or bread and salt will do, but it's almost unheard of to drink vodka without food.

Over the years there have been numerous arguments as to which is the strongest: Vodka, whisky, Swedish schnapps, or Norwegian or Danish aquavitae.

Some of these arguments have ended rather disastrously for the participants, but in these cases they proved that all of them are strong if taken in generous quantities.

Just as there are all kinds of skols in Scandinavia, there are many gestures that go with vodka drinking. There is the bottoms up, the good health, the to you and the final gesture of turning the glass

Naked Man Frightens Nudists

FINCHAMPSTEAD, England — (AP)—Members of the Heritage Nudist Colony have offered a reward for the capture of a naked man. He frightens them.

Club officials reported today the man has popped up, stark naked, from behind bushes several times recently when members—usually women or children—have been strolling quietly in the colony's secluded grounds.

Members insist the tall, suntanned man is not one of the colony.

Millionaire Ends Marriage With Girl 16

RIVERSIDE, Calif., (AP)—Millionaire manufacturer Roland C. De Vigier has obtained an annulment from his 16-year-old bride, Martha Morris Devier, whom he accused of marrying him fraudulently and "secretly intending not to cohabit" with him.

De Vigier, 28, obtained the annulment yesterday by default. His lawyers said there was no out-of-court settlement.

The couple met at a soda fountain where she was a waitress and were married at Quartzsite, Ariz., last Nov. 11. They were re-wed on their continental honeymoon at Notre Dame cathedral in Paris Nov. 22.

Shortly after their return to California they became estranged. She said she couldn't jump up to his level "and I couldn't ask him to come down to mine."

De Vigier is executive vice-president of a firm that manufactures heavy construction equipment. His offices are in Chicago.

Spitsbergen has been governed by Norway since 1925.

Cancer Prevalence Varies As to Geography, Report

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The prevalence of cancer varies in different countries and under different conditions, the 17th International Geographical congress was told today.

For example, the delegates were told, cancer of the lung does not exist in Iceland or Korea; stomach cancer is not as common in England as on the continent of Europe; primary cancer of the liver is relatively more common in Africa, Indochina, India, Malaya, Indonesia and the Philippine Islands than elsewhere in the world; and cancer of the base of the tongue is relatively frequent in certain communities in India.

First Report
The cancer facts were a highlight of the first report of the "Commission on Medical Geography" of the International Geographical Union—a commission which is making a world-wide systematic study of the possible relationships between the distribution of diseases and the environments in which they develop.

Dr. Jacques May of New York, director of medical studies of the American Geographical Society, and also chairman of the International "Medical Geography" Commission, said the commission's first aim is to "map" the distribution of all diseases throughout the world.

"Need to Know"
Declaring there is a need to know "who has what and where," he said that once such information is pinned down on a world-wide basis, it may be possible to determine why one person becomes afflicted and another does not.

He asserted that "geographical factors" may be paramount in the distribution of disease.

British Plight — — Churchill's Last Stand?

English People Want No More 'Fighting on the Beaches'

BY CHARLES R. HARGROVE
LONDON—(NEA)—"We shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and in the streets, we shall fight in the hills, we shall never surrender."

That classic of defiance Winston Churchill threw at the triumphant German armies June 4, 1940, just after they had overrun Western Europe, forced the English out of Dunkirk, and were poised for what looked like an invasion of crippled, faltering England itself.

That was 12 years and a world war ago. Since then England surely has suffered and continues to suffer almost as much as if she had been forced to fight the Germans on her beaches and in her streets.

The other day the same Winston Churchill, again prime minister, still tough and doughty at times, but now 77 years old, made a characteristic battling speech about the perils besetting England from within and without.

To which a middle-class woman shopper replied: "So he's after 'fighting on the beaches' again. Well, we don't want any more of that." And comment in his own party as well as the Labor Party was hardly more flattering.

Some think this may well be Churchill's last beach.

The point here is one that will come as a shock to many Americans—the old fighter who led Britain to military victory in the greatest peril she ever faced is by no means the peacetime hero he was in war.

Britain is burdened by many ills at the moment and if Churchill has not caused them, which of course he hasn't, he and his Conservative government have done little to alleviate them in the less than a year they have been in power.

One simple fact is that Churchill is getting old and he shows it. He doesn't hear well anymore, he is forced to rest more and work less, he can't concentrate for long periods the way he used to. Londoners don't see the familiar hunched figure on the streets much anymore.

He was never long on economics and during World War II could as compared with 50 in the United States, Britain grows no cotton, rubber, or jute, produces no oil, imports nearly all its copper, four-fifths of its wool and softwoods, and half its food and iron ore.

And the experts say that with the one exception of coal, Britain has little hope of producing more food or raw materials.

World War II cost England about one-quarter of its total wealth. To pay her way in the early days of World War II, before lend-lease, she was forced to liquidate her saleable overseas assets including $1 billion in American securities. But the then mighty Churchill, at his best in war, was there to lead them and his spirit raised the spirits of the people.

Translated into simple terms, Britain's situation amounts to this: before the war the rest of the world owed every man, woman and child in Britain 100 pounds. Today it's almost vice versa—every person in England owes the world nearly 100 pounds.

British currency became erratic a few years ago and had to be put in a straightjacket, more and more of what Britain produced had to be sold for export to pay the bills, and as a result the standard of living at home became poorer and poorer.

The British pound before the war was worth $4.83. Ten years later it was worth $4.03. One year later it was $3.68, and the following year $2.60. There was talk recently of reducing it still further to about $2.50 or less.

An index by Churchill's own Conservative government shows the cost of living rose six per cent in the first nine months of its current administration. Wages rose, too, but not enough to stem a tide of workers' demands for more money.

And still higher prices are in sight. The government has announced it will cut its subsidies of certain foods by about one-half and cut down on the supplies of foods it does not subsidize. That means higher prices to the consumer.

Automobile manufacturers soon will deliver to the home market only one car where they delivered two before. And it's to be much the same for bicycles, radios, washing machines, and similar items.

There will probably be even less tobacco available to Britishers. They import it—a large amount from this country — and they're cutting down on imports generally.

Controls of all kinds are many and varied. They cover the prices of all essential goods and their distribution, especially raw materials.

They cover imports and exports of both goods and money, and even the movements of the British people. For no one can take more than 25 British pounds a year out of the country for any except strictly business purposes. You can't travel far on that.

The controls cover even the distribution of profits by companies—they are allowed to pay only moderate dividends.

All this is tough for all but the lower income groups. And even Churchillian rhetoric can't make it less so.

The Moors used henna finger-nail dye at the height of their culture about 850 A. D.

Chicago Insurance Executive Dies

CHICAGO — (AP) — Col. Isaac Miller Hamilton, 87, chairman of the Federal Life Insurance company and the Lake Shore National bank, died Monday.

He founded the insurance company in 1900 and served as its president until 1939, when he became board chairman.

He was a native of Ash Grove, Iroquois county and served a term as state senator before coming to Chicago in 1899. He was a former president of both the Illinois and National Republican leagues.

Draft of Boys, 19, Foreseen

WASHINGTON, (AP) — A Selective Service spokesman says increased needs for manpower soon may force the drafting of 19-year-olds into the armed services. Men 20 and older are now filling draft calls, but an official said the need for more men—as indicated by Monday's call for 47,000 draftees in October—may mean dipping into the lower age bracket. The October call was an increase of 17,000 over September and there are indications quotas for the last two months of 1942 may be as high if not higher.

Film Payoff Isn't Money

It's All in the Dressing Room

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD— (AP) — In the movie business, a star isn't judged by the size of his roles or salary. It's how big and elaborate the dressing room is.

When unknown players are signed at a studio, they have virtually no place to hang their hats. If they succeeded in becoming featured players, they are assigned rooms in a building with their colleagues. If they make the dizzy climb to stardom, they are moved into a swank building with other stars and given fancy suites.

Dressing rooms at the MGM star factory are the particular headache of Miss Eli Benneche. She has been decorating interiors at the studio for over two decades.

750 Dressing Rooms
"I have to take care of 750 dressing rooms and offices," she reported. "Most of them have to be designed and decorated individually. The actors aren't the only ones who have certain desires in color and decorating; the directors and producers can be just as particular, or more so. I suppose that's true of all people in show business, in which color and design play such an important part."

Times have changed, she added, remarking that the economy wave in Hollywood has cut down the lavishness of stars' dressing rooms. "In the old days, we might redo a star's room every two or three years," she said. "That doesn't happen any more."

She looked back rather wistfully to the days when the MGM queens vied for supremacy. Top gal was Norma Shearer, who had a suite in expensive modern design. Joan Crawford had an elaborate English 18th century affair. Marion Davies held court in her own building, a two-story Spanish house. When she got mad at the studio and left, she moved the building off the lot.

She Wanted To Be
"At first Garbo wouldn't talk to anyone but Adrain, who designed her rooms," Miss Benneche said. "But in her last years here, she came down to earth a little. Hedy Lamarr was another headache, Miss Benneche added. Hedy was overly particular and also wanted to change things. "Katharine Hepburn's room was terrible," the decorator exclaimed. "Why, she wouldn't allow anything but striped mattress ticking on the bed. She had some ratty curtains on the window and droopy cartoons hung on the walls. She didn't want anything fancier."

Still Elegant
Dressing rooms for the present MGM stars are elegant but restrained. Greer Garson leans to turquoise with dark green and white. Lana Turner's room is mostly white with pale pink and blue. Elizabeth Taylor's is peach and white. Esther Williams has early American design with blue and red predominating.

Some men, like Red Skelton and Fred Astaire, never make requests, Miss Benneche remarked, but most actors are just as particular as the women. Most of the men prefer red and blue.

Post-Boom Selling Methods Are Studied By Merchants

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK, (AP) — Mountains of merchandise will have to be moved by businessmen on their own hook — once the twin levers of defense spending and new plant construction are withdrawn.

That day of reckoning has been postponed by the steel strike's slowdown of industry and by the stretch-out of the rearmament program.

Expected Next Year

But now it's expected to come sometime after mid-1953. And government and business are worrying about it. And both are studying what to do to keep a greatly expanded industry set-up busy and to stave off a sharp slump.

The National Sales Executives, Inc.—a group of some 20,000 executives directing the efforts of two million salesmen — admit the danger and have done some planning of their own. To help businessmen move the mountains of merchandise when "we find ourselves once more in a period of competition," the NSE is issuing a "guide for competitive markets."

Faus Solon, chairman of NSE's advisory planning committee and vice president of Owens-Illinois Glass Co., says the manual's aim is to help point out ways "to keep the distribution stream flowing—free from stagnant pools of inventories, shutdowns and other obstructions."

Selling Key to Problem

As Solon sees it, "the basic key to our future is not how much can be produced but how much can be sold."

Increase the consuming power of the consumer, sell him, and plan for still more sales—that's the way to beat the slump that could follow the let-down in defense spending, the NSE guide preaches. The volume of capital outlays for plant and new equipment will have to be tied in with product sales, and company profits are also keyed to sales, NSE holds. So, within a year or so, the salesmen is going to be the key man in our whole economy."

The Yalu River made headlines in the Western world when Japanese forces crossed it to begin their surprise victory campaign against Russia in the Russo-Japanese War of 1904-05, says the National Geographic Society.

Future Plane ... Or Flying Fish Bowl?

SOME GLASS TO THIS—Prime problem of designers of supersonic-speed jet planes is to find a metal that will not melt under the searing friction developed by ultra-high-speed flight. Thomas E. Piper, process engineering director for Northrop Aircraft, has suggested that "conceivably the airplane of the future could have glass wings, ailerons, stabilizer and fuselage." Above is an artist's conception of such a plane, which would employ a type of glass fiber laminate for friction-sensitive parts.

That's Illinois Corn for You ...

CORNY MYSTERY—This young lady with the tape measure seems a bit mystified at the plant beside her. And no wonder. It's a corn stalk growing very lustily out of a crack in the pavement on the corner of Washington and Jefferson Street near Chicago's busy Loop section.

Polo Community School Annexes Unity District

OREGON—As result of a petition to W. L. Pickering, county superintendent of schools, Unity school district, in Wausung township, has been annexed to the Polo Community high school district.

The annexed area includes one mile of territory from Cavanaugh's corner south to the county line, beginning at Alex Anderson's and running to a line a half mile east of Cavanaugh's.

The annexation will have little effect on the community high school because students from the Unity district previously have been attending the Polo high school.

Unity district residents apparently took this action in order to be annexed to a high school district of their choice.

President laws will do away with all non-high school territory June 30, 1953, and at that time county superintendents will annex all such territory to adjacent high school districts.

Considerable area south of the Unity district is considering petitioning for annexation to high school districts yet this fall.

Residents of the Highland school area have held several meetings to discuss plans to petition to the Polo district and some definite action is expected soon.

Residents in the Wausung area have held one meeting to consider annexation but no action has been taken because some want to annex the Polo district, some want to go to Dixon, and some want to remain in non-high school territory as long as possible.

Until June 30, 1953, the decision to annex and where to annex will be with the people residing within the territory. After that date, annexation will be in the hands of the county superintendent and the state superintendent of public instruction.

Oh . . .!

MIAMI, Fla., (AP)—The luxury liner SS Silverstar, which cruises between Havana, Miami and Vera Cruz, radioed from the high seas to have newspapermen meet her when she docked last night.

George Southworth, Miami Herald reporter, rushed to the docks. When the Silverstar docked, an official of the company gave the news: Someone aboard wanted to buy a paper.

The first large-scale coal mining operations in the icy archipelago of Spitsbergen were conducted in 1905 by an American, John M. Longyear.

Mystery of the Self-Burning Body Still Puzzles the Experts After Year of Study

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., (AP)—How could a 170-pound woman burn down to a shriveled skull, no bigger than a teacup, a section of backbone and a fragment of foot without any major damage to the room where she died?

A year ago St. Petersburg police came face to face with that baffling mystery.

The official solution of the death of Mrs. Mary Hardy Reeser was that the 69-year-old clubwoman accidentally set fire to her clothing with a cigaret and literally was cremated by the slow burning of her own fatty tissues.

No Real Clues But that didn't put an end to the hundreds of explanations sent in by amateur detectives.

"We still average about half a dozen letters a week, some pretty far fetched," said Detective Chief Cass Burgess, "but there have been no more real clues."

Mrs. Reeser's strange death was discovered when the apartment house owner went to her one-room apartment to deliver a telegram. The door knob was so hot she called for help.

Most of the apartment was in normal condition, but in one corner an overstuffed chair had burned down to the iron springs. In it were a skull and pieces of backbone and foot.

There was a faint soot discoloration on the ceiling above the chair and halfway down a wall. Electric light fixtures there were melted out of shape. A few feet away a rug was not even scorched. Elsewhere in the room electric outlets were in good working order.

Morticians estimated a fire would have to reach 1,500 to 2,000 degrees to consume so completely the body of so large a woman.

Volunteer sleuths had a field day theorizing what kind of highly inflammable liquid could have been poured on the body to cause such heat but thinking along this line was knocked in the head when FBI laboratory experts reported no trace of such chemical or fluid in the ashes.

Police checked to see if some unusually inflammable substance could have been used in the stuffing of the chair and discarded that idea.

Bolt Considered The possibility of a massive bolt of lightning was considered and rejected. After weeks of study and conferences with the FBI and experts in fire deaths, the police issued this solution:

It was known that Mrs. Reeser took a sedative the night before her body was found. She was last seen reclining in the big chair, smoking a cigaret.

She went to sleep before finishing the cigaret and it set fire to her inflammable rayon-acetate nightgown. She died immediately. The chair caught fire.

Still Baffling "Once the body became ignited almost complete destruction occurred from burning its own fatty tissues . . ."

That explanation left lots of people still scratching their heads, but after a year it looks as if it is the closest anyone will ever come to knowing just what happened in that room.
